

I am concerned with the affect on FM Translators that Low Power FM may have. I'm not sure how the stations that I listen will be affected, but I depend on K-LOVE for local information regarding special events, concerts, and the needs of local organizations for assistance. There are some local FM stations that attempt to provide this type on service, but they seem to eventually fail due to the expenses required to keep their programming on the air. If KLOVE's broadcast is affected by a new LPFM station, I fear they will not be able to provide the service I cirrently enjoy with KLOVE. Please don't make changes that will adversely affect FM Translator stations.
